Alicia said, "Home Health is an ever-evolving field of nursing and we are slowly caring for patients that are more acutely ill every year. I have a passion for seniors and those we serve and want everyone to be able to receive the top-notch care they deserve in their home. Home Health has provided me with amazing experiences and helped me to maintain a diverse skill set. I love sharing the incredible things we can do for patients in their own home and enjoy sharing that message with new and upcoming nurses!"
